

MASSACHUSETTS.

PROCEEDINGS

OF

A MEETING OF INHABITANTS OF FRANKLIN COUNTY,

In favor of a National Bank.

JUNE 16, 1834.

Referred to a Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

At a large and respectable meeting of the inhabitants of the county of Franklin, and others, convened pursuant to previous notice at the courthouse in Greenfield, on the evening of Wednesday, the 18th of March, the Hon. Richard E. Newcomb was called to the chair, and James P. Fogg and George T. Davis were appointed Secretaries of the meeting.

A committee of five gentlemen was, upon motion, nominated from the Chair, whose duty it should be to prepare and report resolves expressive of the sense of this meeting relative to the present crisis.

The following gentlemen composed the committee: John Nevers, William Whitaker, James C. Alvord, Henry W. Cushman, and Ansel Lesure.

This committee reported the following resolves, which, after animated and impressive addresses from the Hon. D. Wells, P. Merrick, Esq., and the Rev. H. Colman, were unanimously adopted.

1. Resolved, That a paper currency, based upon an adequate specie foundation, presents important advantages over an entire specie circulation, both in its facility of transfer, and its power of expansion and contraction, according to the wants of the community: the object of a wise and patriotic Government should be, therefore, not to destroy such a currency, but to regulate it; devising means for giving the whole system its utmost efficiency and safety, developing to the full its advantages, and remedying its acknowledged defects.

2. Resolved, That a fluctuating or depreciated currency is one of the heaviest curses with which a land can be afflicted; and that experience, no less than the reasonings and opinions of our ablest statesmen since the foundation of our present Government, has taught us, that without a National Bank of some sort, the evils incident to a disordered currency cannot be for any length of time avoided.

3. Resolved, That the recent movements of the administration against the present Bank of the United States, and especially in the removal of the public deposits therefrom, taken in connexion with its declared hostility to any plan for the recharter of a National Bank, and its determination to coerce the States, if possible, to return to a specie circulation, are fraught with danger and ruin ; uncalled for by any preceding complaints or wants of the people ; attended in their commencement by severe pecuniary distresses ; and offering, if persisted in, no prospect for the future, but one of increasing and hopeless suffering.

4. Resolved, That it is with the greatest pain that we have seen the Executive pursuing his destructive objects, by means barely compatible with the forms of the constitution, and entirely inconsistent with its spirit ; and that we trust the question will soon and decidedly be settled by the Representatives of the people, whether all the powers of the State, legislative, military, executive, and judicial, are to be claimed or exercised by a single individual, without drawing down a signal and effective rebuke.

Resolved, That a committee of twelve be appointed by the Chair to prepare a memorial to our National Legislature, embracing the sentiments contained in the former resolutions, and asking for measures of relief from the pecuniary distresses consequent on the disordered state of the currency.

The committee appointed by the Chair consisted of the following gentlemen :

Nathaniel E. Russell, Greenfield ; William Whittaker, New Salem ; Epaphras Hoyt, Deerfield ; Jonathan Blake, jr., Warwick ; Pliny Arms, Deerfield ; Benjamin R. Curtis, Northfield ; Ephraim Hastings, Heath ; Thomas Longley, Haidley ; Asa Howland, Conway ; Spencer Root, Greenfield ; Charles Thompson, Colrain ; Henry W. Cushman, Bernards-ton.

Resolved, That the said committee take measures to circulate the memorial in every town in this county for signatures.

Resolved, That the said committee report at an adjourned meeting, to be held at this place on the evening of the 16th day of April next.

At the adjourned meeting of citizens of this county, opposed to the recent measures of the administration, held at the court-house on Wednesday evening, William Whitaker and Joshua Longley, Esqrs., were appointed Vice Presidents, in addition to the officers appointed at the former meeting. The report of the committee appointed to prepare a memorial, and circulate it for signatures, was received and accepted.

On motion, it was voted, That the officers of the meeting be a committee to transmit the memorial and signatures to the Hon. George Grennell, jr., together with copies of the proceedings of the convention, properly authenticated.

R. E. NEWCOMB, President.

WM. WHITAKER,
JOSHUA LONGLEY,

Vice Presidents.

JAS. P. FOGG,
GEO. T. DAVIS,
Secretaries.

To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States :

In the exercise of a right secured to us by the constitution, we, the signers of this memorial, inhabitants and legal voters of the county of Franklin, and commonwealth of Massachusetts, come before the Congress of the United States, to state our grievances, and ask for redress.

We desire on our part to do this with the respect and deference which are due from citizens of the republic towards their legislators, and at the same time with the decision and plainness which are due to ourselves. We desire also, on your part, that we may be looked upon neither as the friends nor as the opponents of the President of the United States, but as a portion of the American people, for whose greatest good it is your duty to provide ; and to whose voice, constitutionally expressed through the medium of respectful petitions, you will doubtless attentively listen. In this capacity we pray to be heard. The community to which we belong, is eminently an agricultural community. Manufactures and the mechanic arts, though they are beginning to flourish amongst us to a much greater extent than formerly, are, as yet, in a great degree, merely subsidiary to the one great interest of agriculture. We are far removed, therefore, from the operation of causes which ordinarily bring pecuniary distress upon trading and manufacturing communities. And when, five months ago, rumors of failures and distress in the cities and upon the sea-coast reached our ears, though our sympathies were excited for the embarrassments and losses of our fellow-citizens, we entertained strong hopes that those embarrassments and losses would not extend to ourselves.

Our hopes were stronger, because we were then eminently prosperous. Never, within our recollection, have the prospects of the farmer been more flattering, than at the close of the harvest of the year 1833. His crops and produce were generally abundant, and found a ready market at the highest prices. It is true we were not rapidly growing rich. The nature of our business does not admit of this : but we were saving something from our labor beyond the support of ourselves and our families. Old debts, which had accumulated in less prosperous times, were in process of payment. Creditors felt secure and lenient. They who, by their industry, were free from debt, were adding to the stock of their farms, extending and improving their cultivation, procuring for themselves and their families an increase of comforts, and for their children better means of education.

Manufactures and the mechanic arts partook of the general prosperity, and all that could be or was desired by us was to be permitted to go on without unnecessary interference in the course which was before us. But the same causes which have brought ruin and distress upon other communities, are at work among us. The blight has fallen upon our fields, even when they were ripe for the harvest. The prices of all our agricultural products have sunk down. Our fat cattle, our wool, and our grain, the three great staples of this county, are upon our hands, and there is no possibility of getting rid of them, except by a great sacrifice. We know not how we can better convey an adequate idea of our present condition than by saying that the cattle which many of us purchased last autumn for the stall, and in feeding which nearly the whole produce of our farms has been expended, are not worth to us now more than we paid for them. Thus have some of us lost the products and labor of a whole year. All classes of laborers share with the farmer in his depression. Mechanics and manufacturers have in many instances been thrown out of employment, and exposed to suffering and want, or driven to seek unwonted and far less profitable work, if haply they can find it.

Yet would we cheerfully bear all this, hard though it be, if we could reasonably hope that better times were soon to come. But unless something be done by the Government of the United States, we dare not hope for this. Unless these evils, which have had a political origin, are met by a political remedy, they must go on increasing. The cloud which is already so dark over our heads, is still blacker on the horizon.

The labors of coming years will be sacrificed; and in the midst of ruined credit, fluctuating prices, and an unsettled currency, greedy speculators will feed fat on the products of the labor of the farmer and mechanic, who are always the ultimate sufferers from their dishonest arts.

But this is not all we fear. Our pecuniary prosperity, involving as it does not only the present comfort and happiness of our families, but the means of educating our children, and rendering them respectable and intelligent, is very dear to us; but dearer a thousand times are the institutions of our free Government. And when, after a careful examination of the measures of the Executive in respect to the public treasure and the currency of the country, we see not only acts which are ruinous to our pecuniary interest, but principles which are hostile to liberty, and as, we firmly believe, wholly at war with the constitution itself, we cannot but feel excited and alarmed; and in the performance of what we deem a solemn duty, incumbent upon us as citizens of the republic, we come before your honorable bodies, in the manner appointed by the constitution, to express our apprehension and distress, and ask for prompt and efficient action on your part to meet these evils.

We ask that the action of the Executive branch of the Government, in respect to the public treasure and the currency of the country, may be restrained within its proper sphere.

That the public faith may be vindicated by the restoration of the deposits to the Bank of the United States; that a National Bank may be chartered with power sufficient to act without embarrassment and loss as the fiscal agent of the Government, to regulate the local banks, and to facilitate and carry on the business of exchange.

These seem to us to be the proper remedies, as well for the evils we suffer, as for those we fear. We pray that these remedies may be applied.
